Security and protection management for human rights defenders and social organizations

Restricted admission to courses (for security reasons): courses for human rights defenders only

For your security, we only want human rights defenders, or people working with human rights defenders, to participate on the courses. For that reason, we will need you to provide us with references to prove your identity, before we make the decision to accept your application to take the course. The references can be provided in various ways:

- If you have an institutional e-mail address:
(xxxxx@protectioninternational.org)
In this case you should provide us with the details of someone else with an institutional e-mail address, as a reference (it can be someone we already know, someone known by somebody we know, someone we can obtain information about on a public site, or the institution's web site, etc...)
- If you have a general e-mail address:
(xxxxx@hotmail.com, xxxxx@gmail.com, etc...)
In this case we will need another two e-mail addresses from two different people as a reference (someone we already know, someone known by somebody we know, someone with an institutional e-mail address, etc...)

Please, take into account the fact that we will check everybody's identity before we enrol anybody on the course, so we will need to allow some time in order to make these checks.
